WORKERS TO BE CLASSIFIED;
PEOPLE SURPASS SECOND LOAN QUOTA

JOB RATINGS TO BE MADE --- Ljubljana, Slovenski Parcavalec, 4-6 Oct 50

According to a recent federal decree, workers will be designated according to the amount of skill they possess. The Federal Minister of Labor has decreed that workers will be rated by commissions between 1 November and 31 December 1950.

A worker can become eligible for a higher rating through education or on-the-job training. A worker with a rating of helper may be promoted to semiskilled worker after working satisfactorily at his job for at least 3 months; after an additional 5 months he may be promoted to skilled worker. For promotion to all positions above skilled worker, the candidate must pass an examination before a commission, in addition to completing the minimum period of work required under his old rating.

After 18 months as a skilled worker, a worker may take an examination to become a fully skilled worker. After working as a fully skilled worker for 2 years, he may take an examination to be classified as an independent worker. After 2½ years as an independent worker and after having passed an examination, a worker may become a specialist; after 3 additional years, he may become a higher specialist. After 4 years, a higher specialist may take an examination for the rating of foreman; after 5 years as foreman he may take an examination to become top foreman. Exceptional workers may be promoted in shorter periods than those prescribed by the decree.

If a helper in a trade enters industry, he will be rated as a skilled worker or independent worker, depending on the period he worked as helper in a trade. Workers who are dissatisfied with the titles assigned to them by the commissions will have the right to appeal.

This decree applies to blue- and white-collar workers and farm workers, but it does not apply to workers in the trades. Workers in the trades will continue to be covered by the general laws on the trades.

As soon as workers are given ratings, their pay will be determined accordingly.
